

OVERVIEW

Born out of necessity, while assisting family members with medical emergencies, personal challenges from natural disasters, and critical care situations a recurring need for communicating critical information emerged. From this need the EmergencyPrep-4U Home & Family product was developed as a personal information journal and data management tool to assist your family in times of need.

Our products ask the professional questions...

You provide the answers... and... You store the data.

Provide Peace Of Mind Today
“Remember To Document”

I was so impressed with the Home & Family product that I bought two CD copies, one for us and one as a gift for my daughter. We have now documented and exchanged our information, and we are now prepared to help each other in an emergency or if we need to recover from a disaster.

Debra, Naperville, Illinois

When Katrina struck we lost everything ... If we would have had this product available and stored all of our data in one place, we would have saved a lot of time and effort searching for our critical information...
